Have you ever wondered how your setting feels to the children who use it?

Sometimes I feel scared and small

Sometimes I feel brave and excited

We are delighted to welcome our key note speaker Elizabeth Jarman to this year's conference. Elizabeth specialises in creating really effective learning environments and her company is the sole provider of The Communication Friendly Spaces™ Approach. Elizabeth's talk will challenge you to re-think the way that you use your learning environment to maximise and support communication skills, emotional well-being and physical development.

We'd really like to use video in our setting but we don't know where to start and how best to use it

VERVE is a new addition to our training package which focuses on using video in developing practice. We are very excited to offer workshops in the VERVE approach at our conference this year.

The use of video is a philosophy. It offers adults the opportunity to reflect on what supports each individual child best.

Being filmed was nerve wracking at first, but when we watched it back together everything made so much more sense
